

MOTION BY SUPERVISOR MARK RIDLEY-THOMAS

JANUARY 13, 2009

REVISED AGENDA ITEM 44-E

Predatory lending and unregulated financial instruments were contributing factors that led to the collapse of the mortgage finance and real estate industries. It is understood that unscrupulous activities must be stopped and prosecuted, but the criminal and civil justice system alone will not help the individual or the community recover.

Industry experts such as Credit Suisse have predicted the timeline and the impact of the subprime lending frenzy, and all indications point towards further foreclosures and real estate fraud activity as adjustable rate mortgages reset through 2011.

In 2006, the number of foreclosures in Los Angeles County was 3,151; in 2007, this number increased almost five-fold to 14,973, touching all geographic regions. In 2008, foreclosures increased to 35,811. The numbers alone are a clear indicator of the crisis that homeowners and renters are facing.

The economic impact of this crisis affects the County in many ways: through the allocation of resources and services, the loss of revenue generated by real estate and other transactions, the spread of blight to our neighborhoods, and the increase in the number of individuals and families who become dependent upon public assistance, just to name a few.

The County clearly must take a leadership role in preparing a strategic plan for dealing with the foreclosure crisis and real estate fraud, and their impact on all facets of our community.

The County should do all that is possible to plan for economic recovery for the community and for the residents, and to empower the individuals with tools and knowledge to assist them in handling future financial matters.

I, THEREFORE MOVE THAT THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS:

Direct the Chief Executive Officer to report back to the Board within 30 days, on County multijurisdictional, public and private efforts to address the foreclosure and real estate fraud crisis, and to explore the feasibility of creating a comprehensive Countywide approach to addressing the impact of real estate fraud, with the creation of a Real Estate Fraud/Predatory Lending Task Force, and develop a comprehensive Countywide approach to reviewing the impact of real estate fraud on the County of Los Angeles, to encompass all aspects of real estate fraud with an emphasis on predatory lending practices, including:

- b) recommendations on how to address these issues;
- c) forecasting the needs of the homeowners, renters, residents, communities, social service providers, and businesses;
